80 PEOPLE DIE EVERY DAY IN IRELAND

74% of Irish people want to be cared for at home at end of life (up from 67% in 2004)

53% fear their desired place of care will not be available to them when they need it (up from 45% in 2004)

53% of Irish people have experienced the death of someone close to them in the last two years

38% of these deaths happened in hospitals, 26% at home, 12% in nursing homes/residential care settings and 11% in hospices

4 out of 10 people say there is room for improvement in end of life care

82% of people want to be surrounded by loved ones at end of life & 70% want to be free of pain at end of life

39% have never thought or talked about drawing up a will and two thirds have never discussed preferences for their end of life care

Infographic by Irish Hospice Foundation/Kaz Productions