

Journal of Irish Urban Studies

Volume 1 Number 1 2002

Introduction to Journal of Irish Urban Studies	i
Notes for Contributors	ii
Contents	iii
General Editors and Editorial Board	iv

ARTICLES

Brendan Williams and Patrick Shiels The Expansion of Dublin and the Policy Implications of Dispersal	1
Andrew MacLaran and James Killen The Suburbanisation of Office Development in Dublin and its Transport Implications	21
Hendrik van der Kamp Transport Infrastructures and Sustainability of Urban Development	37
Deiric Ó Broin Participation at the Periphery: Community Participation in Reformed Local Government Structures	47
Michael Punch Local Development Issues on the Urban Periphery: Tallaght from the Bottom-Up	61

PAPERS FROM PRACTICE

Dick Gleeson Dublin's North Fringe: A New Model for Suburban Greenfield Development	79
Bob Biddlecombe Planning Suburbia: Development Density Issues	85

The Journal of Irish Urban Studies is published by the Centre for Urban & Regional Studies, Trinity College Dublin and the Faculty of the Built Environment, Dublin Institute of Technology.

They wish to acknowledge the generous financial support of
NorDubCo
(The North Dublin Development Coalition)